“Besides guiding the young cast to their vivid characterizations, director Janet Bentley has also staged the play with visual variety and momentum.”

- Darryl Reilly on BASEMENT – www.theaterscene.net

“Ms. Bentley has vibrantly coordinated all of the presentational elements into an intriguing 75-minute production with her commanding staging. The present, the past, and inner lives all converge through the flawless unison of movement, dance and stage effects.”

- Darryl Reilly on HORSE – www.theaterscene.net

“Director Janet Bentley used her resources well. Bentley incorporated effective staging utilizing the natural diagonal that site lines force. The tight stage didn’t allow much for variance, yet Bentley made it possible. She even took the time to capture the pulse of each story and curate them in a manner both individually and as a unit.”

- Michael Bradley Block on BLANKETS & BEDTIME: 3 RESTLESS PLAYS – www.theaterinthenow.com
